EVTM Newsletter December 2020

"COVID BROUGHT THE WORLD TO A HALT, BUT NOT EVTMM"

Dear EVTMM colleagues,

We want to use this newsletter to summarize 2020, and what a year it has been! The world came to a halt and we were faced with many challenges, especially hospitals and health care practitioners. We were all forced to do what we are best at, adapting. This is what EVTMM is all about, and maybe it is time to show that minimally invasive methods might play an even bigger role in times like these. (McGreevy DT. J Endovasc Ther. 2020 Dec;27(6):979)

The EVTMM Society has continued to follow EVTMM's core values, "no ego, just good science and cooperation", collaborating with other societies such as ESVS, VEITH and ECTES on several occasions to continue sharing knowledge and experience by conducting several unique zoom based meetings. EVTMM also held its first interactive zoom based mini workshop with attendees from all around the world.

JEVTM has also continued to expand. In the last EVTMM newsletter we announced that the journal is now included for indexing in both Scopus and Web of Science. We are also working on other platforms and hope to get PUBMED approval in 2021. We continue to encourage submissions of all kinds with focus on resuscitation, endovascular and hybrid methods and trauma management.

The EVTMM Society has currently multiple ongoing projects with several publications, textbooks and chapters in books as a guest society. The Top Stent manual is now available translated to Spanish, Russian and Turkish and soon we hope in Arabic, French, Portuguese and Chinese. We are also working on a unique EVTMM video archives to be available very soon online at JEVTM.com.

We encourage all enthusiasts to join the research and clinical activities to help the EVTMM platform to grow.

With this we would like to wish you all a safe Merry Christmas and a Happy New 2021.
